

THE BRELLA - no ums about it TAFE VISUAL ARTS STUDENTS

7 November to 13 December 2009

The graduating and continuing students of the Diploma of Visual Art at the Tropical North Queensland TAFE invite you to their 2009 exhibition TheBrella – no ums about it.

TheBrella was based on the premise of an umbrella under which a diversity of expression, process and concept could be gathered to display the original and individual nature of student production.

TheBrella presents art that is built around strong conceptual frameworks that are tightly linked to high standards of technical proficiency. In keeping with contemporary methods, the graduating students have developed a multi-skilled approach to art making. Their practices range through ceramics, sculpture, painting, drawing and digital media. Many of the works exhibited integrate a number of processes to produce original and extremely individual pieces.

Graduating students have gained competency in professional practice subjects that range from business, Web design, concept development to postmodernism and the development of public speaking skills.

The staff of Tropical North Queensland TAFE would like to take this opportunity to congratulate the graduating students on their commitment to study and wish them all the best in their professional practice.
